Before we get started we have to discuss the core concept of bmi calculator and if you do not know what bmi is then you can skip this post and go to the end of this post. What is bmi? As we mentioned earlier bmi is an important concept in dieting and health related fields. bmi is bmi which is an abbreviation of body mass index. When it comes to bmi the values are divided into

5 different categories. They are underweight, healthy, overweight, morbidly obese and super obese. For every category the values are either above or below 18.5 or above or below 25 or above or below 30 or above or below 35. When it comes to bmi this is the key area to see a positive change in your eating habits. How bmi calculator works? As we have mentioned above the bmi is the abbreviation for body mass index. BMI works on the concept of body fat percentage and a person's weight as per his height. In a nutshell if your weight is 20kg and you are 200cm then your bmi value will be $20/200$ and if you calculate it and find your value as 18.5 then it will mean you have lower than 18.5% body fat percentage. bmi is a very simple calculation and this calculation will help you to lose weight and control your bmi value. In other words it all depends on your weight, height and bmi. When it comes to the
