THE DIOCESE OF HAMBURGThe diocese of Hamburg will also have to become an integral part of the worldwide Catholic Church, and the following are some of the ways in which this happens:1. The diocesan bishop has the authority to ordain priests (former priests can also be ordained), and at the present time there is a shortage of educated, capable, and courageous priests in this country. The diocese of Hamburg, with its dozen or so thousand faithful, is about to enjoy a substantial influx of priests in the foreseeable future.(2) The diocese 0cc13bf012

They have sent out a letter to the insurance company stating that they won't be accepting any of our insurance now. That's right, no co-pays, no deductibles and not even any'reimbursable' copays. This is a double whammy for us because we have had preexisting conditions for a few years now but the only problem we have had is an inability to get our insurance through our HMO (I had to move to DeSales because of the insurance) but they don't care about that. I spoke with my health care proxy last night and she told me the only way to get her and her family insurance is to buy a health care plan from Highmark. She told me that in November they will be taking phone orders but I would have to wait until then to know if I can get my insurance or not. Now, if they don't accept my insurance I can't go to the hospital, I can't go to the drug store and I can't go to our doctor either. Except for emergency care which is all free except for the ER visit. I am a bit angry tonight. I feel like this shouldn't be happening to a family of five with four kids and another baby on the way. I was in the grocery store and I overheard another mother talking to her older son about getting his insurance and she was telling him that there is no way to get his insurance from Highmark because there is nothing in it for them. But, the woman who told me is expecting her second and she told me that she will be able to get her insurance through Highmark and it's only $50.00 a month. She said that she will be enrolling after the baby is born but she is expecting November. I can't believe that something as important
