Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a radar sensor, and more particularly, to a radar sensor suitable for use in a radar apparatus mounted on a vehicle for detecting, for example, the presence of a preceding vehicle, and a radar apparatus using such a radar sensor.

2. Description of the Related Art Radar apparatuses mounted on vehicles are utilized to capture a target object such as a preceding vehicle, and are usually equipped with a radar sensor. The radar sensor detects a target object by making use of radio waves emitted from a radar transmitter and reflects the waveforms of the radio waves coming from a target object, i.e., a preceding vehicle, by using a target reflection surface provided within the radar sensor. For example, a radar sensor disclosed in JP-A-2000-307336 is shown in FIGS. 11 and 12.

In FIG. 11, a device body 101 of the radar sensor is formed so as to be shielded by an enclosure 102. The enclosure 102 is provided with a radar transmitter 103 and a radar receiver 104 inside thereof. The radar transmitter 103 and the radar receiver 104 are provided with respective antenna circuits (not shown). The enclosure 102 is provided with a target reflection surface 105. The radar sensor having such a structure is mounted to a predetermined position of a vehicle body, and the antenna circuits of the radar transmitter 103 and the radar receiver 104 are electrically connected to a control circuit (not shown), such that the radar sensor is operative, and the target object can be detected, by detecting the radio waves emitted from the radar transmitter 103 and reflected by the target reflection surface 105. By the way, JP-A-2000-307336 discloses that the target reflection surface 105 is formed of a conductive material so as to provide an antenna for detecting a target
